In cases, in which the claimer claims that the loss was caused by the recklessness of the policy holder, their legal representative or a managerial employee and in awareness that a loss would probably occur, due to cardinal breach of duty or due to so-called "gross organisational negligence", insurance cover beyond the legal and contractual standard liability only exists up to the sum named in the benefit limits. Art. 158 b VVG remains unaffected by this.

Obligations

Furthermore, provisions concerning obligations are included in the insurance contract and in the insurance contract law (VVG). In case of failure to fulfil these obligations, die NHA Hamburger Assekuranz-Agentur GmbH is exempted from paying benefits.
